

HEADS WILL ROLL

Whoso keepeth the commandment shall feel no evil thing: and a wise man's heart discerneth both time and judgment. Because to every purpose there is time and judgment, therefore the misery of man is great upon him. For he knoweth not that which shall be: for who can tell him when it shall be?

There is no man that hath power over the spirit to retain the spirit; neither hath he power in the day of death: and there is no discharge in that war; neither shall wickedness deliver those that are given to it. All this have I seen, and applied my heart unto every work that is done under the sun: there is a time wherein one man ruleth over another to his own hurt. (Ecclesiastes 8)

Human history began with an act of disobedience. It must end, for each one of us, in an act of obedience, else it will end in final destruction "in the day of death"...

The conquest of New Spain (known to the locals as "Mexico") was perhaps the most brazen and valiant of conquests of a vast empire by a small band of explorers known to modern man. Remarkable for its boldness and sheer military brilliance, it is also a history for which we have this remarkable primary source—the firsthand account, written by one of Cortez's soldiers—and preserved in a unique time when lies and liars were hardly tolerated. Unlike our degenerate age of privilege and grift, men (and women) of that era were used to suffering and depravation, and perils of life were common fare. Yet this effort was herculean, even for them, and the results of which literally reshaped the New World in the image of Western Civilization.

When Hernan Cortez initially arrived on the Yucatan coast of New Spain in 1519 with 600 soldiers and 16 horses, he had no idea he was conquering an empire, or of the opulence and magnitude of the civilization he was about to overturn. But by the time his expedition was ready to march to Mexico he'd realized the impossible odds that lay before them. In fact, he narrowly put down a mutinous faction who saw the futility of continuing any further. Cortez was having none of it. The expedition would proceed. Too much was already invested and too much was at stake. If they turned back now, they'd never be able to come ashore again—the Indians now being made aware of their purposes would violently repel any future landing. The only path now was forward. Yet, failure, he would soon learn, meant certain, torturous death for all of them; their mortal lives ending as an excretion of cannibals. Therefore, in order to remove any hope of retreat, he burned the ships.

There is a parallel to this story in our day, if you're wise enough to discern the times.

This planned “global pandemic” and the subsequent, and inevitable, vax campaign is looking more and more like a war crime. But there are more crimes lurking—waiting to be manifested. As the former seem to be fading into the underbrush, I think we are about to witness the latter explode onto the scene. And I mean to say that the vax war only seems to be fading, as it is an illusion. As Sun Tzu told us, “war is trickery.”

People tend to think that a war crime is something that spontaneously “happens” during a time of extreme stress in battle, but this is usually not the case. Rather, war crimes are atrocities committed intentionally, which leaders find necessary to keep a low morale army together. Sometimes unwittingly, soldiers are drawn into participating in such horrors that they can never desert or give up. Because this would lead to answering for their crimes... They either win together or die together.

We saw something of this alluded to in the Epstein affair. And with “pizza gate” and all of that sordid horror, for which Clinton the Lessor confessed (even as it was just part of the game-show) that if the “Other Guy” and his “deplorables” were to win, “they’d all be swinging from lamp posts”. Of course, everyone now knows the Other Guy was in on it from the get-go, and his deplorables were all harmless rubes, finally thrown under the bus at the end...

What has happened in the last two years was merely an extension of a greater agenda—a planned battle in a long war. But the commitment to the cause has now led the conspirators to a point of no return.

This will make the vax war ugly. There is no longer any chance that millions of angry and harmed people—many devastated economically—will just forgive and forget. Therefore, the aggressors cannot fail. Like death, as the preacher said, “there is no discharge in that war.” So every bloody-handed leader, every globalist co-conspirator, and every last vaxxer must fight to achieve the objective, regardless of the casualties or the optics. They are all in now—and they are all in it together.

This explains the massive censorship and overt lying... That regular folks who are at wits-end with the lawless and arbitrary “mandates” and the draconian divide-and-conquer measures, and who have assembled in common protest against their alleged government are now being called terrorists (albeit predictably) is the mother of all gas-lightings. Of course, this absurd accusation betrays all logic and reason but now these mendacious dogs know that the people know and they don’t care anymore.

The goal, remember, is nothing less than the complete dismantling of our present civilization, to be replaced with a global Slave Grid. And they can almost see the finish line now.

As such, in the land of Canada, their fearless leader has now declared a state of war on his countrymen—whom he calls “citizens”—subjects of the ship of State he pretends to captain... And now dubbed “domestic terrorists” on top of it all. By decree, anyone continuing to protest the wickedness of Trudeau’s government will henceforth be subject to the confiscation of their property, their vehicles, their bank accounts, and even their children. Their travels will now be restricted and they will face the threat of imprisonment, should they obstinately decide not to give up and “go home”.

Reporting on the newly effective decrees, here is what the AP News had to say:

This unlawful activity has to end and it will end,” Trudeau warned just hours earlier. “We heard you. It’s time to go home now,” the prime minister said, cautioning that “everything is on the table” for ending the blockades.

“There will be consequences for these actions, and they will be severe,” Ford said. “This is a pivotal, pivotal moment for our nation.”

Ah, but Father Justin said he understands the protesters are frustrated by the pandemic... but “these blockades are hurting [their fellow Canadians]”. You see, it’s the refusniks and misfits who just wish to live their lives unmolested and with their bodily autonomy intact who are hurting people... Moreover, thanks for coming out to the capital to see us... “we heard you, now it’s time to go back to your sorry lives”. Some of those he speaks to will not forgive that magnitude of contempt; not in this life, nor the life to come.

As one protest speaker apparently put it during a rally on February 15th, “the peacefully protesting truckers affected by violent government overreach will go home, collect their tools and come right back; the government goons will shortly find themselves facing an angry, armed populace that outnumbers them 10, 20, 50 to one...”

While I find this to be an unlikely scenario, things do have a tendency to go sideways fast and quite unexpectedly. In any case, in learning the art of negotiation such a clown as Trudeau never got past the finger painting stage, so there will be none of that. But his handlers surely knew his limitations pre-game, which was obviously a condition of his employment. When the Phoenicians groomed and installed a bastard son of two wicked people into a position of power over a large nation just north of us, they knew the endgame. And I think we’ve arrived.

On the other hand, one shouldn’t underestimate the foresight and planning these people are capable of. Many have seemingly forgotten about the Gun Confiscation by Order-in-Council from May 2020. Therein, by diktat—and not legislation (which is how it’s done now)—Canadians are ordered to turn in their legally owned firearms, now considered illegal... namely, all AR-15 style rifles, “pistols” and their associated parts and accoutrements. Accordingly, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police have the following announcement on their website:

“under the Criminal Code, a letter was recently sent out to individuals/businesses to inform them that their previously registered restricted firearms are now prohibited and their registration certificates became nullified.”

Graciously, the Canadian government has permitted a period of “amnesty” wherein the citizens in possession of said contraband weapons have time to consider their choices while the agency decides how it will proceed with the confiscations, aka “mandatory buy-backs”... Thereafter the Order, in effect, makes criminals of an estimated 500,000 people. The amnesty ends on April 30th, 2022.

The State giveth, and the State taketh away. Moreover, I highly doubt this timing is coincidental to the events at hand.

Do yourself a favor and read that Confiscation Notice linked above. It is a harbinger of things to come here. How will you react? Decide now.

As matters unfold in the North, we should expect certain things. First, the vax war will converge with the disarmament war, which will converge with the war against anonymous money (e.g., cash). That is, the bankers will do as they’ve always done and finance and foment wars against the population by way of deception. The lies will now grow to gargantuan proportions—on purpose—to cause maximum mental distress among the non-believers, and to force them to act under pressure and frustration. Nobody will believe them, but that will be the very point. Those who previously swallowed the bait, along with the hook—triple-vaxxed, unarmed, digitally lobotomized; many having sacrificed their own children (or soon will)—are now caught and have as their only salvation to continue with the charade by demonizing their neighbors as “terrorists” and doubling down on the war crimes with which they were complicit. There is no way out for them except in the elimination (by imprisonment or death) of their refusnik countrymen, who simply will not comply... Peaceful separation (which would be desirable) is not in the cards, which is why sock puppets like Trudeau and President Brandon were set up in the first place—to carry this war to its inevitable conclusion. The globalist cabal and their many little helpers (see here) have now set things in motion that must proceed along their planned trajectory or all is lost for them.

It cannot be left to chance that a significant, united, autonomous, and armed minority will just shut down their game by simply parking in the road and honking air horns. When a tipping point of grown men have decided that they’ve had enough of being treated like slow children, and abused by lying dogs their entire lives, who have now decided to bring down the roof of society on their heads as they escape out the back door, I think we may finally see the employment of some heavy equipment. These men have it in the form of semi rigs, trailers, tractors, heavy trucks and the will to shut borders and clog cities in a siege proper. In such a case, as food and supplies run out, the only option left will be violent, forced expulsion enacted by the governors, which will become a self-fulfilling prophecy as these men do in fact “go home, collect their tools, and come right back.” At such a time, as so many of them will have been declared de facto criminals, terrorists, and outlaw gun-runners—cut off from their livelihood, shut out of the financial system, and with nothing left to lose—they will find themselves desperate enough (finally) to do what needs to be done. Like the Aztecs in that final, epic battle for Mexico City, they will be throwing heads back at the Spaniards from the cliffs.

Well, that’s my pipe dream. (In this case the metaphor has flipped and I’m rooting for the Mexicans).

But, I am also certain this is exactly what is intended with the riot-act handed down by the Canuck megalomaniac acting at the helm. Forcing the hand of the truckers by sending in troops to dispatch them while contemptuously telling them, like Marie-Antoinette, to let them eat cake at home, Trudeau is effectively burning the ships. All at once he leaves himself, and his country, no choice but to follow it out to the bitter end.

And just as their enemies cannot walk this back now, the Canadian refusniks cannot afford to back down. It must be a potential fight to the death. For that is surely what is on the table, to be served up righteously for one side or the other.

“Man has continued to evolve by acts of disobedience ... there were men who dared to say no to the powers that be in the name of their conscience or their faith, but also intellectual development was dependent on the capacity for being disobedient to authorities who tried to muzzle new thoughts...If the capacity for disobedience constituted the beginning of human history, obedience might very well, as I have said, cause the end of human history. I am not speaking symbolically or poetically....” (Erich Fromm, On disobedience)
