

THE KIDS ARE ALRIGHT

Change, it had to come

We knew it all along

We were liberated from the fold, that's all

And the world looks just the same

And history ain't changed...

(Pete Townsend, Won't Get Fooled Again)

I was never a Who fan. As a kid, of course, growing up in the 70's, I was unavoidably baptized with their music on the frequency modulation. As I remember it, you could never escape the radio in those days—it was omnipresent, like the Spirit.

Therefore I never knew much of them or understood what their angle was. Never looked at the lyrics of their music or cared to. But others have, and seem to find something esoteric in them. Or at least meaningful—in the sense that they seemed anti-establishment... Or was that just a put-on?

These days there is another spirit—it is the spirit of a dying Age. And the devoted receive this spirit through a syringe, by which they are baptized with its power, and made like unto it. And this is what it will mean to be a Citizen of the world in the time to come. The former sacraments are passing away, since the 'Democratic Vote' has been exposed for what it always was. We have arrived in a time much like that of the French Revolution—possibly putting us just before the time of the Terror, in the interim between the deposing (and execution) of the king and the mop-up operation of the rebels who refused the New Order. One notorious slaughter is well attested to in the town of Nantes, wherein thousands were murdered indiscriminately by their own countrymen for their reluctance to go along with the program. And in accordance with the new concepts of Liberty and Patriotism the dirty deeds were done in enlightened ways, like being given a "Republican Baptism" (in which the faithful were bound and immersed into the river Loire for the forgiveness of sins against the State, and remained immersed).

The main perpetrator of that crime, by the way, was one Jean-Baptiste Carrier. Fitting name. Here is a drawing of him at his later trial (remember, “like Saturn, the Revolution always eats its own children”):

If he seems to resemble someone known to you today (one Tony Fauci) it's because he does. They were both in fact Jesuits, thus crypto-Phoenicians. And mass murderers. We'll talk more about the Phoenicians at another time.

By the way, it was Mark Twain, who was near enough in time and place to appreciate the atrocities of the French (toward each other) and the subsequent outcome of their Revolution, who said in his diatribe against mankind,

“There is only one possible stage below the Moral Sense; that is the Immoral Sense. The Frenchman has it. Man is but little lower than the angels. This definitely locates him. He is between the angels and the French.”

I allowed that digression because it lends to something else I want to notice. The atrocities of man follow a particular pattern. They always begin with one group demonizing their neighbor. And in modern nation-states, rarely is it a neighboring people—that is an alien—but in practice it is his own people, his kin, whom he “others”... and thus marks for disposal.

As Twain furiously elucidates in that essay, there is no common brotherhood of man. Outside of Christ, that is. (I added that; Twain was himself rather bitter toward “the Deity”). Yet that is another delusion in their tool box our Rulers love to deploy. The “We’re all in this together” meme is so worn and played out precisely because it works so well. And if you’re NOT “in this” it merely reveals you as the heretic and potential terrorist you actually are. In need of a baptism.

And so we've come to the end of another cycle of history. Maybe to the cycle of cycles—a Great Cycle. It is not the end of the world, however it may seem that way. Our world—in so far as we remember it growing up—has fallen. Like Babylon the Great, “never to rise again”. That is what they keep telling us... We're never going back to the old normal. But is that a bad thing?

As Pete said, “Change, it had to come.” But, as Solomon reminds us, “there is no new thing under the sun”. They keep playing the same song; the same playbook is used on us over and over again. You'd think we'd have stopped being fooled by now.

I believe I know who is running the program. And it's the same Families that always ran it. However their methods may have evolved to where they now employ the use of fakery principally, and only need to resort to full-on Revolutions (or war) as a last measure. Faking death, it turns out, is much easier, less dangerous (for the conspirators), and usually more effective than actual killing to accomplish their ends. But, perhaps causing the target group to willingly off themselves is an even better approach. If the magic was readily available to pull off heists like moon landings, 9/11 events, fictional world pandemics, and every false flag operation that has caused every false war since perhaps the Middle Ages, how hard could it be to scare people into compliance by declaring themselves literal gods which only the sacrifice of their children will appease? Those who have already procreated and are past that age can't do any further damage, you see. It's their progeny that are a threat to them now. They are the last link to the old world—and the old “normal”, and they must not be allowed to remember it or pine away for the old freedoms. Lest they contaminate the next generation. If there is one. I am convinced that “history” has been forgotten many times already. But that's a subject for another time.

As the plot plays out, we begin to see further off into the horizon. At first we suspected the “Virus” was nothing but the flu repackaged. The pandemic was clearly imaginary. Hardly any of us knew anyone outside of a nursing home who even got the sniffles that first year—at all. Then we knew the “Virus” was really about the “Vaccine”. And the “vaccine” was really about the vax passports... That is, the isolation, identification, and tracking of the people. Initially a Division Bell, finally a herding mechanism... Softly, softly, catchee monkey.

But it's becoming more apparent that even that wasn't far-sighted enough. The kids weren't alright... yet.

Maybe the culling wasn't the primary motive. Secondary, perhaps. Seeing now the evidence (that many of us suspected) that only 5% of the vaccine lots produced 100% of the deaths provides an interesting perspective. The fact that 95% of the lots weren't fatal (and had far fewer adverse reactions) leads us to believe that the goal wasn't immediate genocide. But it also proves that at least part of the program was intentional and broad spectrum death. Those 5% weren't accidentally deadly, for they weren't all produced in the same facility or at the same time. This wasn't some manufacturing error. It also demonstrates what they were capable of doing, had they wanted to.

So then, where is all of this headed?

I suppose from time immemorial it's been known by the Governors that once the children have been coopted, the game is won. We've seen this already in previous articles and by quoting the many psychopaths who've openly admitted this. No need to keep beating that horse. We understand the agenda. The adults don't have to all go along. Enough will to facilitate the goal. Most blindly continue to corral their children into public schools (and many private—which are just chartered by the government and toe the line) where they are little plastic lumps of human dough... to be duly shaped. Even those who've avoided the indoctrination centers are caught in the net of social media and daily pumped with raw sewage disguised as “entertainment”. If they've managed to avoid that by the diligence of their parents or by their own innate self-preservation, many still succumb to the social pressure of their peers. Nobody wants to be “un-liked”. The mind-creep of persistent thoughts of doubt is a powerful hypnotic... “How can everybody be so wrong, and only my parents and our own tiny group be right?”

That's how it is done. So many lies are piled atop so many falsehoods, by the time a child is out of high school he knows less than he did when his mom dropped him off at the daycare center so she could “pursue her career”.

As Mark Twain also said, “It ain't what you don't know that gets you into trouble. It's what you know for sure that just ain't so..”

Meanwhile, since the 70's, we've all seen society being morphed toward some frightening end. As former futurists and churchians, some of us knew that end to be the Apocalypse. Others perceived it as the Mad Max scenario or Apocalypse Now!—a meltdown in world war and a return to a primitive, but wrecked, human economy... Perhaps the forever-end of our humanity. Again, the slow slouch into nihilism.

“Lost in a wilderness of pain, and all the children are insane”, retched Morrison in the intro to that film.

Today there is a new meme floating around. A Venn diagram. “You are Here”...

If it seems like we've come to the end of a long, telegraphed road of predictive programming, well, maybe it's because we have.

The open attack on children was the plan from the beginning. It was central to the Agenda. The gullible and fearful parents would begin the ordeal by masking them, which bus drivers, school teachers, and youth pastors would reinforce day by day. They would come to believe they were little terrors to themselves and to all the "brotherhood of mankind" with whom they breathe common air and share the same blood. The knowledge that disease and death is ever-present and random, striking without warning or cause, would be reinforced by the constant reminder of ritual washings and distancing. They would have to learn thoughtless compliance to these nonsensical routines and to fault and fear others who fail to conform. All of this would be normalized by iteration, and by mimicry of adults and especially older kids. The very young—infants to preschool age—would never evolve normal human associations; reading faces, perceiving emotion and other non-verbal cues. Even learning to speak properly would be retarded by being hidden from moving mouths. They would have permanent arrested development of mental traits that lead to higher thinking skills and matters of discernment. Normal curiosity and wonder would be replaced with fear and loathing. Unhealthy obedience would result, and normal human affections would become defective. And one of the most important duties of parents to instill—that of forming in their children the critical and nuanced faculty of Trust—would be left up to the demons that have the daily watch over them.

It's been nearly two years now. For a first grader today, most of his cognizant life has been lived inside this Skinner box. Do you think he will be remediable?

And now after all of this operant conditioning, the final solution is applied by way of a medicine. The parents, being sufficiently indoctrinated by now, having had their own double anointing and feeling great about it, are ready and anxious to have their little ones likewise genetically branded. They will proudly post pictures on Facebook of the holy Band-Aid on the injection site where the spirit entered—lifting up the childish egos, calling them “super-heroes” for trading their natural, resilient immunity, in all likelihood their future conceptive ability, and possibly their lives for a strawberry-flavored sucker.

Probably the most devious aspect of this attack is the very real possibility—if not the intention—that most of these children would become sterile due to the accumulation of the protein toxin in their developing gonadal organs... And the subsequent, permanent autoimmune damage thereby. Even if only 5% of them receive the “hot lot”, the mental damage has still been accomplished... Trust and Obey your rulers who have the ultimate authority to penetrate your body and to excrete whatever toxin, adjuvant, or anything else, into it at will. Resistance is not only futile, but sinful, and an unforgivable crime against the Republic and against Nature. Anyway, kids being kids ya know, things happen. But later they will understand that human procreation is violence to Mother Earth, and surgical abortion having long become a thing of the past, the abortive pill, mifepristone, will be dispensed at Walmart, free of charge.

They will grow up in this new society. They will know nothing of the old one. For them, it will be “normal” that the government schedules their bi-monthly injections and sends them their scrip for their meds on their “mobile devices”, which they will duly receive without any thought. That they cover their faces in public as a sign of submission to Science will be “how it’s always been”. A naked face will be as indecent as a naked breast—which none of them will have known, since the old ways of motherhood have been replaced with the new and trans-human....

A year from now, the plan is, the kids will be alright. The baptisms are being prepared at this very moment for the spirit in one third dilution. Impudent parents and other heretics will be removed by the state should they evilly try to intervene. Impossible fines and prison sentences are already lined up for our European brethren in Austria who won’t inject, beginning in February. As they are lead away into custody their children will become wards of the state. It’s all elementary after that. And preparatory for what follows here after the gloves come off very soon.

Here in America, Fauci’s Jew world order is due to be inaugurated in the next year. I think it’s official now. The last pieces on the chessboard are being moved, as he and his brethren rub their hands with glee...

“For he saith, By the strength of my hand I have done it, and by my wisdom; for I am prudent: and I have removed the bounds of the people, and have robbed their treasures, and I have put down the inhabitants like a valiant man: And my hand hath found as a nest the riches of the people: and as one gathereth eggs that are left, have I gathered all the earth; and there was none that moved the wing, or opened the mouth, or peeped.” (Isaiah 10)

.....

Pete Townsend and The Who made that album into a documentary, by the way. I didn’t watch it. But I noticed that the only song that was released as a single—“I Can See for Miles”—wasn’t on the soundtrack for the film. Wonder why.

“I know you've deceived me/ Now here's a surprise... I can see for miles and miles.”

The Omicron terror was for the kids. This was all prefigured even before Trump, who said, we remember, way back in 2019, “they have to get their shots”! In the coming months, the Biden “mandates” will go forward and the people will cheer it. And everything will fall into place, as “the riches of the people” are transferred to h-his generation. I see it clearly, just like Pete did.

